ABOUT

Welcome to the 2024 Spring Seminar Mania Program! Born out of necessity in 2021, when gathering together with colleagues was not a viable option for chapters, the greater Midwest ARMA chapters forged untraveled (virtual) territory. These chapters came together and through a lot of hard work, creativity, technology, and passion, the very first Spring Seminar Mania was held. It was a colossal success! We found this format was so much more than a novelty during those challenging times. It has evolved into a practical, sustainable, and boundaryless way for all of us to join together for our common interests, participate in educational sessions, and network with colleagues from all over the country. 16 ARMA Chapters have partnered to provide 16 educational sessions during the months of April and May. Our program participants span the country, from Washington state to Florida, expanding our regional diversity far beyond the Midwest.

So grab your virtual passports and get ready to visit some spectacular destinations. Each time you attend a seminar, your virtual passport is stamped. The more places you visit the more passport stamps you get. The more passport stamps you get the more chances you have to win prizes during and at the end of the event. Don't wait! Pack your virtual bags!

Learn from the experts in our field, tour these fabulous cities & states graciously hosted by our participating ARMA Chapters, and win great prizes. Mark your calendar and join us for one, many, or all of the following seminars.

Seminar Dates:

April 11, 16, 17, 18, 23, 24, 25, & 30

May 2, 7, 9, 14, 15, 16, 21, 29, & 30 (finale event)

Thanks to the generosity of our sponsors at VRC, wonderful prizes await you during and at the end of your trip. Prizes include 32 $50 gift cards donated by VRC.

Extend your virtual vacation for another day by attending the Spring Seminar Mania's event finale on Thursday, May 30, 2024 where we will play a records trivia game, network with one another, and announce the grand finale door prize winners.

How to Qualify to Win Door Prizes:

Every time you attend a meeting your digital passport will be stamped thereby placing your name into a drawing for the end of event door prizes. The more meetings you attend, the more chances you'll have to win via raffle or trivia!

NOTE: Attendees may opt out of prize drawings. Simply include a note to withdraw from door prize winnings each time you register for a session.

Prize Winners:

Winners will be randomly selected and announced at the event finale Thursday, May 30, 2024. Winners will be formally notified via e-mail by the Spring Seminar Mania Prize Committee (one prize per person).

About the Program

Pressure for companies to use AI to gain a competitive advantage (or at least not fall behind versus competitors) is steadily rising, and in 2024, CEOs will push their Legal, Compliance, Privacy, and IT Teams to deploy AI applications now, not later. While AI promises tremendous innovation and productivity gains, the emerging compliance challenges and risks can feel overwhelming: Seemingly every week, new AI regulations are announced, the copyright and IP issues are only beginning to be addressed by the courts, and companies need to ensure they are using new AI technology both ethically and correctly.

Saying “we can’t do this” isn’t an option. The solution is to develop an AI Governance Program to help your company navigate the challenge of successfully and compliantly harnessing the power of AI for your organization. In this session Mark Diamond, CEO of Contoural, the largest independent provider of Strategic Information Governance Consulting services focusing on AI, will discuss real-world, practical approaches and strategies on how companies are creating comprehensive, effective, and “doable” AI Governance programs through a combination of AI policies and processes to address both current and future risks and requirements. He will also address how AI is likely to impact Information Governance.

About Mark Diamond

As founder and CEO of Contoural, Mark Diamond is one of the industry thought leaders in proactive records & information management, litigation readiness and risk & compliance strategies. As a trusted advisor he and his company help bridge legal, compliance, security and business needs and policies with effective processes, technology and change management.

A backlog of DNA tests has kept New Orleans from solving multitudes of crimes and encourages more crime because of the lack of prosecution. Emerging on the scene in the past few months, Quick DNA technology is in the pilot stages in the New Orleans and Baton Rouge areas in Louisiana as a way to fight crime in a more effective way. With the new technology, people already arrested can be identified for other crimes they have committed and held instead of released to commit more crimes. It allows the authorities to “connect the dots” while not taking the risk of arresting innocent people. Join us in this “fireside chat” as experts reveal what the technology means to our areas.

About Daniel Stoller

Daniel Stoller is a certified U.S. and EU privacy professional and technologist with over 9 years of experience in privacy, project management, consulting, journalism, public and legal services. About the Program

Artificial intelligence (AI) tools have garnered much interest over the past few years. Organizations such as Harvard talk about AI's future, ZDNet says business success and growth involve AI, and The White House issued an executive order in 2023 on the use of AI. AI is no longer an emerging technology, and we must be prepared to address AI as IG/RIM professionals. We will discuss the relatively new ISO standards that cover Artificial Intelligence, the features of AI, and how Machine Learning (ML) is part of AI. Further, we will explore how AI tools such as Chat GPT, Google's Bard, and others can be used at work, as well as expectations of those tools and how fast these tools are coming.

About Andrew Ysasi

Andrew Ysasi (pronounced EE-SA-SEE), MS, CRM, IGP, CIP, CIGO, FIP, CIPM, CISM, PMP, has 25 years of experience in executive leadership and information governance. As Vice President of Advocacy for VRC, Andrew mentors, educates, and volunteers with the IG community on behalf of VRC. In addition to VRC, he served on the Executive Committee for the ICRM from 2020-2023, is an instructor at San Jose State University's MARA program, and a resume expert with Admovio®, where his work is published on CIO.com. In the past, Andrew contributed to ARMA's IGBOK and Wiley's Information Governance 2nd Edition.

Best Practices for Long-Term File Preservation

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 24, 2024
1 - 2 PM EDT / 12 - 1 PM CDT / 10 - 11 AM PDT

About the Program

Work environments create electronic records in a variety of file formats. Over time, these formats may become obsolete or unusable, rendering these electronic records inaccessible. Monitoring and regulating the usage of file formats can help minimize the risk of records loss. Furthermore, standardizing formats reduces costs and provides a platform to better manage records over time. This work is also essential in forming a digital preservation strategy, which can help ensure your records are accessible, accurate, authentic, reliable, legible, and readable throughout the records life cycle. Learn challenges and best practices for preserving digital files for the records life cycle.

About Krista Sorenson

As of 2020, Krista Sorenson serves as the Electronic Records and Digital Preservation Archivist for the Wisconsin Historical Society (WHS), where she facilitates the transfer of electronic records from state and local agencies to the archive in addition to conducting processing, preservation, and access actions on collection materials. Prior to her start at the WHS, Krista worked on digitization projects at the State Library of North Carolina and in local government records management at the Mississippi Department of Archives and History.

Records Management in the Age of Privacy

THURSDAY, APRIL 25, 2024

1 - 2 PM EDT / 12 - 1 PM CDT / 10 - 11 AM PDT

About the Program

Click here

Regulators' increased focus on privacy and data protection creates significant challenges and opportunities for organizations to rethink how customer information is managed. Research shows that customers prefer organizations with robust privacy practices, but it takes more than slapping a privacy notice on a website. Organizations need to fundamentally reexamine what they collect, how it's used, and how it's managed over time.

This session covers: privacy in 2024 and the impact on organizations; ways RIM's focus has changed and the impact on retention and disposition; the idea of data minimization; "purpose-based retention" and how it can improve retention overall as well as support an effective program.

About Jesse Wilkins

Jesse Wilkins, CIP, CIPP/US, CIPM, IGP, CRM, edp, ICE-CCP has worked in the information management industry for nearly 30 years as an end user, vendor, consultant and trainer. His areas of expertise include information governance, records management, enterprise content management, social media governance, and training and certification development/delivery. He has given over 200 workshops on information management to companies and government agencies around the world. About the Program

How do we avoid another dry, droning training session? How do we ensure trainees feel comfortable applying what we've taught? An email deleting party is a live employee training session that incorporates both instructional and active work time for participants. Participants walk away knowing that they have made a genuine impact on their cluttered Inboxes, and instructors walk away knowing that they have developed a fresh facet to their reputation in the organization and have taught defensible deleting to their users. Learn about live email deleting parties with the inventor, Lynn O'Shea from the University of Washington, and Wendy Gibson from VALEGROUP (formerly Vulcan)

About Lynn O'Shea & Wendy Gibson

Lynn is a Compliance Analyst for Records Management Services at the University of Washington and has worked for UW for over a decade. Lynn holds a BA from the University of Colorado and a MIS from the University of Michigan. Lynn focuses on building resources for and training staff and faculty.

Wendy has over 20 years of experience in RIM. She holds a CRM certification and a Bellevue College Project Management Certificate. Before coming to VALE GROUP (formerly Vulcan), she supported the Weyerhaeuser Company Finance Groups. She is the Sr. Corporate Records Specialist at VALE GROUP.

Demystifying AI: Challenges and Solutions for Records and Information Managers

TUESDAY, MAY 14, 2024

1 - 2 PM EDT / 12 - 1 PM CDT / 10 - 11 AM PDT

Click here

About the Program

Artificial intelligence (AI) and machine learning (ML) are no longer buzzwords. As AI/ML permeate IT transformation efforts, the hype is diminished as expectations rise. AI can improve core functions—including RIM—but may not be the right choice. Simple automation/workflow may be useful, but some situations need AI and ML solutions. This presentation will discuss challenges facing RIM managers and provide examples of how existing AI-enabled software/services can assist in capturing, managing, and preserving digital content. This presentation draws upon research conducted as part of InterPARES Trust AI and supported by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada.

About Dr. Patricia Franks

Dr. Franks teaches Enterprise Content Management and Digital Preservation at SJSU. She is a CA, CRM, IGP, and CIGO. She is a member of ARMA's Company of Fellows, the CIGO Association Board of Directors, and Preservica's Digital Preservation Sustainability Council. She is a president of NAGARA, author of Records and Information Management, and editor or co-editor of numerous research publications including The Handbook of Archival Practice. Her research interests lie in emerging technologies, especially AI and blockchain technology, and their impact on RM and IG.

About the Program

Several states have passed comprehensive data privacy legislation and many others have passed more targeted legislation. The expectation from regulators is that organizations know what personal information they collect, understand the purpose of the data use, and dispose of the PI after the purpose for collection and use has lapsed. Records managers are in a strong position to support their organizations response to privacy laws. The challenge is that regulators rarely offer clear guidance on how to translate high level legal requirements into practice. In this presentation you will learn some tips and practices that can help you create and operationalize a privacy assessment program.

About Matt McMahan

Matt McMahan is Program Director of Business Continuity and Data Integrity at Texas Roadhouse. He obtained his B.A. from UNC-Chapel Hill and his J.D. from Vanderbilt University. Originally in-house counsel at Texas Roadhouse, he was responsible for the management of litigation, responding to agency charges, records management, corporate-level contracts, marketing, and intellectual property. He currently focuses on records management, data privacy, enterprise risk management, insurance, business continuity and crisis planning, and incident response. Matt is married and has four children.

About the Program

In every geographical area of the world, there are disasters created by humans and nature. While each organization plans for evacuating buildings, protecting people and property, the same care, and attention to planning should be placed on the records of the organization. If information is an important asset, the planning for the protection of this asset prior to a disaster is paramount.

Takeaways:

- Learn about risk assessment/mitigation, disaster plans and supplies, disaster team planning, salvage priorities, recovery efforts and resources.
- Form an understanding of a basic disaster management plan and what steps are needed to protect organizational assets when disaster strikes.

About Deborah Robbins

Deborah Robbins, CRM, CIP has over 20 years of experience in the Records and Information Governance field, in federal, city, and county governments, legal, finance, education, utilities, and private sectors. She is the 2023 ICRM Member of the Year and leads a CRA/CRM online study group. Deborah has served as a frequent speaker on topics such as data mapping, compliance, change management, professional growth, and business continuity and disaster recovery.

The IG Professional's Role in the AI and Data Privacy Revolution

WEDNESDAY, MAY 29, 2024

1 - 2 PM EDT / 12 - 1 PM CDT / 10 - 11 AM PDT

to register!

About the Program

Artificial Intelligence (AI) and Data Protection are hot topics, but they often seem at odds with each other. AI creates enormous possibilities, but privacy professionals are concerned about the source and use of data needed to create AI tools. Others, including Information Governance (IG) Professionals, are concerned about the future of their jobs. Topics will include: understanding the language of both AI and Data Professionals, identifying existing and new IG policies to address and incorporate AI and Data Privacy principles, and demonstrating how IG professionals will play a pivotal role in making AI a success while still protecting consumer data privacy interests.

About Tom Corey

Tom Corey is a licensed attorney, Certified Records Manager, and Certified Privacy Professional employed by Harbor Global, LLC. Much of his work involves assisting organizations in developing IG policies, records retention schedules, and privacy programs that are compliant with domestic and international laws, regulations, and data privacy requirements. Tom has been published several times and is a two-time winner of ARMA's Britt Literary Award.

SPRING SEMINAR MANIA

TRIVIA & NETWORKING FINALE EVENT

Extend your virtual vacation for another day by attending the Spring Seminar Mania II's event finale on Thursday, May 30, 2024, where we will play a records trivia game, network with each other, and announce grand finale door prize winners.

This year we will have a trivia contest during the Spring Seminar Mania Wrap-Up meeting. There will be four rounds of trivia and all questions will be based on both the sessions and the chapters that are presenting each session. The more sessions you attend, the better your chances of acing the trivia competition and winning a gift card. The gift cards that were generously donated by VRC will be awarded to the top contestants for each round of trivia. Please note that each contestant can only win one trivia gift card, regardless of their placement at subsequent trivia rounds. There is a 50 person limit to each trivia round.
